Port Of Naples Again Attacked By Allied Fliers

Italian Mainland Is Target For Allied Bombers Over Week-End

MESSINA BADLY WRECKED, REPORT

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS. In North Africa, June 28.—Wellington bombers carried out a crippling night attack Saturday on the vital Italian port of Naples. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today.

Turning their attention from the bomb-ruined islands in the Sicilian Straits to the Italian mainland, the Allied bombers rained tons of high explosives on Naples' docks and industrial plants.

Ax Planes Shot Down

Eight Axis planes attempting to attack Allied shipping were shot down Saturday and yesterday, six in combat and two by guns of naval vessels, a communiqué reported. From all operations, two Allied planes failed to return.

The new assault on the Italian west coast port of Naples, third largest city in Italy and before the war the most thickly populated city in Europe, came in the wake of the third raid on the Sicilian port of Messina in 36 hours.

RAF bombers from the Middle East pored two-ton blockbuster and showers of fire bombs on Messina's vital installations only a few hours after more than 100 American flying fortresses struck a record blow at the port's ferry terminal.

Communication Ended

As a result of Friday's two raids, coming quickly on a Wellington assault Thursday, all rail and water traffic between Sicily and the Italian mainland was believed to have been practically ended.

Blazing fires left by the huge fortress fleet Friday afternoon stood out as beacons for the Middle East-based heavy bombers, which kindled new fires near Messina's main railway station and a number of oil storage tanks. Rapidly spreading fire and bomb ruin was declared to have rendered the train and ferry terminals practically useless to the enemy.

The fortresses were credited with downing at least 25 German and Italian fighters that rose to intercept their afternoon raid on Messina.

Major Land Action Near On Red Front

By NATALIA RENE
(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 28.—The first major land action of the summer campaign appeared to be developing today with the Soviet announcement that red army forces seized a town on the Kalinin front and smashed six German counter-attacks to recapture the position.

Four hundred Nazi troops were killed in the clash, a communiqué said. Observers believed the action, although on a comparatively small scale, may indicate the beginning of a new campaign on this front northwest of Moscow, where both sides have been reported massing troops for some time.

NEW YORK, June 28.—A German-born Staten Island, N. Y., air raid warden today was held in $50,000 bail for action of the federal grand jury after he admitted that he had supplied the German Intelligence with information concerning American troop and convoy movements.

The warden, Ernest Frederick Lehmitz, was arrested by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and arraigned within the next few hours before U. S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The FBI today announced the arrest of Ernest Frederick Lehmitz, an American citizen, on a capital offense charged with trying to send espionage information about troops and convoy movements to the German intelligence in Europe.

Lehmitz was specifically accused of violation of the Federal espionage statutes, which is punishable by a jail sentence of 30 years or death.

Seized In New York

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, revealed that Lehmitz was seized in New York City in what may turn out to be one of the most sensational spy cases of the war. Hoover declared that Lehmitz had "written numerous letters to the German intelligence in Europe containing detailed information in secret writing as to shipping conditions in the New York harbor, as well as troop and convoy movements."

Lehmitz, a one-time employee of the German consulate in New York, who later became an American citizen, began his alleged spy ac-

Ickes Says Mines To Be Returned

Will Go Back To Operators As Soon As Possible, He Says

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Secretary of Interior Ickes informed the House Ways and Means committee today he plans to return the bituminous coal mines to private operators as soon as possible, but even now is discussing with the owners of a program for "closer supervision" of the mines by the president.

Ickes made his statement as thousands of miners returned to the coal pits and full scale production neared.

Despite all the warnings and exhortations, a lot of youthful bicycle riders in this city persist in riding their vehicles on the wrong side of the street. This is a most dangerous practice and fraught with liability for mishaps.

According to reports from some localities in this area of the nation, heat records for the two days of June since 1913 were shattered a couple of days last week, when temperatures got up to 96 degrees for those days.

Now is the time for all good men to remember the winter past; when the goose hung high and the mercury low and we dodged the wintry blast. There were frosty panes and slippery streets; you recall that it was good form then, to stamp the feet and wheeze and cough and blow the hands to warm them. But somehow the thought of snow in the past fails to make us cool, and we moan and groan of the sweltering heat and dream of a dip in a pool. To grumble of weather's a chronic disease and Mark Twain was right when he said, we do nothing about it, the weather, I mean, though we talk and complain 'till we're dead. But it's lots of fun and it passes the time and give us something to say to a far-out cousin or maiden aunt, it's eighty-six today.

Thousands Of Miners Return

Soft Coal Mines Expected To Near Full Scale Production Today

SHOWDOWN NEAR FOR JOHN L. LEWIS

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 28—Thousands of miners in the great Appalachian field returned to the coal pits today, nearing full scale production and a possible final showdown between the government and John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Some time this week, contingent upon the return to work of all the 50,000 soft coal miners, President Roosevelt may act to enforce the War Labor Board order in the prolonged coal wage despite and direct the UMW to sign a contract with the mine owners.

Demand Action

The WLB, critical of the four months "truce" which ended the third general wartime mine walkout on condition that the government operate the mines, has been pressing Mr. Roosevelt to challenge Lewis' refusal to accept the board decision and order compliance therewith.

Mr. Roosevelt is believed to have deferred such a move until the mines are back in full operation. This now seems immediately assured.

Sunday mass meetings in scores of coal field communities saw local union leaders and rank and file members endorse a general back-to-work movement. Last week less than half of the UMW membership heeded the UMW policy committee order to terminate the third coal strike.

Mine union locals in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Tennessee and Kentucky agreed again to resume production of coal. In Logan county, W. Va., a resolution was adopted for return to work and production of all the coal needed in the war effort.

The miners were critical, however, of the recently enacted anti-strike law and of the WLB. They also assailed the failure of government controls to curb rising living costs.

front in which 74 Russian planes were smashed on the ground in Soviet bombing raids on enemy airfields.

Series of Raids

A special announcement revealed details of another series of raids Saturday night by Soviet bombers against the key rail terminal of Orel and adjacent Nazi airfields. Sixteen large fires were ignited and violent explosions were touched off at the Orel junction and numerous fires and explosions were observed on the bombed airfields. All Soviet bombers returned safely, the announcement said.

The latest figures of destroyed German aircraft brought to 3,806 the total knocked out of action since the spring air campaign got under way two months ago. This does not include countless Nazi planes massacred on the ground, estimated to have totalled between 500 and 1,000 in the past 18 days.

(The British radio in a broadcast heard by CBS, said the Soviet air offensive German air bases last week resulted in the destruction of at least 500 planes on the ground.)

The Soviet noonday communiqué reported only patrol action and aerial duels on the Russian front during the night. Soviet machine gun and rifle fire dispersed several enemy scouting parties on the central front.

At Hassani, both the field's hangars received direct hits and were set afire. The entire surface of the airfield and its western dispersal area were well covered with bomb bursts and five grounded planes were left blazing.

Seven Nazi and Italian fighters from the force that attempted to intercept the American raiders were shot down in combat.

Long-range fighter planes from the Middle East meanwhile set fire to a medium-sized Axis transport ship north of the Greek island of Levkas, the communiqué said. From all operations no Allied planes were lost.

Mrs. Norman H. Davies

After a long illness, Mrs. Isabell Snyder Davies, aged 40, wife of Norman H. Davies, 135 Meadowbrook, S. E., Warren, O., died Sunday morning at 3:15 o'clock at her home.

Daylight Sweeps

The new sorties came in the wake of widespread daylight sweeps against Axis shipping, airfields and communication facilities in western Europe, coincident with a Washington report that the Britain-based air campaign will be intensified within the next month.

The American and British air staff, according to Reuter's Washington correspondent, have decided to increase the tonnage of bombs destined for the Reich by 45 per cent before the end of July. The report was unconfirmed in official circles but it was given credence by a Daily Express story declaring that American heavy bombers stationed in England soon will take an even more active part in the battle of the Ruhr.

Vast Stepping Up

The Express, Lord Beaverbrook's paper, said the American eighth air force contemplated a "vast stepping up" of its daylight activities and is considering joining RAF bombers in heavy saturation-type night bombardments.

America's big four-motored Flying

Fortresses were reported to have "appeared over France in great strength" yesterday. There was no allied confirmation of the report, the air ministry announcing only RAF fighter sorties against targets in France and Belgium and a torpedo attack against a German convoy off the Dutch coast.

London meanwhile had a brief, uneventful air raid alert shortly after 10 p.m. Sunday. No bombs were reported dropped.

RAF Spitfire fighters, ranging over France and Belgium during the day, attacked scattered targets and shot down three Nazi fighters without loss, the air ministry said. Spitfire-escorted Beaufighters of the coastal command meanwhile attacked a southbound German convoy off Holland with aerial torpedoes, probably damaging a supply vessel and three escort ships.

The escorting Spitfires were credited with destroying two Nazi Focke-Wulfs and damaging all other fighters in the strong force protecting the convoy. Only one British plane was lost in the dogfight, which resulted to eight the number of Nazi fighters shot down in combat over western Europe and adjacent waters Saturday night and Sunday.

Guy Everett Webb, aged 55, of 29 East street, died suddenly Saturday afternoon at about 1 o'clock. Mr. Webb, who hadn't been well for some time, was stricken with a heart attack.

BATTLE FOR BURMA

MILITARY MEN are not minimizing the pending campaign for Burma. Indeed, many of them believe that it can be as difficult as any problem presented in the whole war.

Right now the monsoon is in operation, as it will continue to be for the next three months. The rain is all but incessant, rendering the terrain, difficult for army movement under the most favorable weather, now all but impossible.

But when the monsoon lifts, the movement of United Nations troops now in India, rated at more than a million men, is expected to advance to dislodge the Japanese who are holding Burma with perhaps 100,000 men.

All the obstructions imaginable in war are offered by Burma. The jungles and swamps make all roads poor. Port facilities for forwarding supplies are small and inadequate. Possession of the country depends on the seizure of several north-and-south areas between mountain ranges.

It is a battlefield which challenges the ingenuity of American and British military men, but they will meet and answer it. Between this time and the end of the monsoon they will be building airports, laying roads and bridges and enlarging docks in preparation for next winter's unrelenting battles to bring the Japanese to their knees.

INVASION FORECAST

There is no cannier crowd on earth than the veterans of the financial market in London—known as The City—and it is interesting to know what these gentlemen think about the nature of the imminent invasion of Europe by the Allies. Their conclusions are:

Pending its eventuation, it is better to be quiet speculatively. That more than one front will be opened by the Allies simultaneously.

The London market is inactive, not because it is in doubt about the result of the invasion, but because traders consider it professionally wise to await an event of this magnitude. The market men believe that Britain is on the eve of decisive action and in such an atmosphere it adheres to the practice of sitting tight.

One writer, Lewis L. Nettleton, says that the London market has arrived at this conclusion as to the strategy to be employed:

"The City," he says, "is of the opinion that more than one new front will be opened simultaneously and that for a time at least the main assaults may be indistinguishable from those designed merely to mislead the Axis. But of one thing The City seems certain, and that is that Italy will constitute the main theater of war."

PREFACE TO VICTORY

In the same issue of the London Times which carried an account of Deputy Prime Minister Attlee's report to the House of Commons on the capture of Bizerte and Tunis appeared an article which told something of the preparations for that victory. These particular preparations began as long ago as July, 1940, when eight British officers and fifteen enlisted men arrived at Takoradi, on the Gold Coast, to take the first steps in delivering aircraft over the 6,000-mile route from that point to Egypt. New air fields had to be hewed out of the jungles to supplement those of the Imperial Airways. In September six Blenheim bombers and six Hurricane fighters arrived at Takoradi in crates—trail blazers for the new supply route. The first air convoy, made up of six Blenheims and a Hurricane, started for Egypt on September 20.

Thereafter airplanes began to arrive at Takoradi several times a week and then daily. A pool of ferry pilots flew aircraft of every type across Africa and the pilots then came back by air transport for more planes. The speed with which air reinforcements were dispatched to the Egyptian bases was constantly stepped up. The painstaking organization of the route, the development of air fields, the fight against malaria and other diseases—these all formed but part of the preface to victory at El Alamein and in Tunisia, but they illustrate well the remote, laborious and obscure work that must be done before a brilliant victory appears in the view of all.

FREE ENTERPRISE

The gangs of "experts" and long-haired economists who infest the federal pay rolls in Washington have launched a propaganda campaign of scorn and contempt for free enterprise. They are trying to invest the term with a suggestion that it is merely the label under which business men exploit the consumer.

Regardless of their claims, their opposition to free enterprise is opposition to the economic system under which this government brought a higher living standard to the average citizen than any other government at any time in history.

Free enterprise is, in terms of an example which everyone knows, the system under which a Henry Ford, with nothing but a good idea and plenty of courage, created one of the greatest industries in the world. In doing that job, he did more for labor than any other American has done. He transformed the social and economic tempo from the horse-and-buggy speed to the automobile speed.

Today the government has taxed that power away from its Henry Fords. Their earnings are being diverted from plant expansion and search for markets. Their strength is being sapped away to support hundreds of thousands on the federal pay roll.

It was in defense of this system of free enterprise that Frederick C. Crawford, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, spoke when he said recently at Cincinnati:

"What we need is a clear affirmation, free of weasel words and mental reservations, of full faith and confidence in our free economic system as the only secure foundation for a free political system."

Democracy and free enterprise are inseparable. If one is destroyed, the other will expire.

Hitler was confident his power would accumulate like a snowball rolling downhill. But the heat the Allies are applying is melting it like a snowball not on a hill.

Moscow and Berlin dispute each other's claims as to casualties in Russia, but there is no disputing the fact that from here on in Nazi casualties will increase steadily.

Japanese people must have a hard time reconciling Tojo's statement that he has sunk the American fleet with his prediction that the war will last a hundred years.

The Parent Problem

Avoid Living With In-Laws

To the young married man or woman who is considering living with the in-laws, let me offer a warning in the following tragic story which can be matched by thousands of others bad or worse. Often the in-laws become wedges between the younger husband and wife or constantly stir up discord between them; and when children arrive they become still more pathetic victims to the oft-inevitable.

The mother who writes the following letter is but little better off than if she were a slave; nor can the father be happy either tied as he is, emotionally, to his parents. Yet this mother wonders why she can't win more willing cooperation from her children.

Under Constant Fire

"Dear Dr. Myers: We have three children, 10½ and 8 and a girl 4. We have been living with my husband's parents. They have been very considerate in a great many ways, and in some ways better than most parents-in-law you hear of. But there has been constant interference with our pleasure. I have not seen 18 shows in our 12 years of married life nor dare I feel free to indulge in reading. These parents themselves have never spent much time for their own pleasure. There is constant bickering about my getting to bed after their bedtime, which is often 8 o'clock, when that is my free time. I am accused of prowling around after this time when I even move around on tiptoe.

"Then there has been interference in rearing our children. I tried your suggestions about getting young children to eat the right foods with so much disturbance caused by older members of the family that I had to give up. My father-in-law would not eat in order to show his displeasure and he sometimes even cried.

"My husband's folks tell him everything I do that they do not like, and he seems to think he has to jump on me about it. I cry a great deal in secret and yet I sing when I am out where the rest can see me, although I feel heartbroken.

Broke His Promise

"I have urged my husband to get us a home by ourselves. He had promised to do this when we had children. You'll see that was about the time of the depression and I did not urge it on him. Now he becomes angry when I want to talk to him about it and stays that way for days."

The story in the last quoted paragraph I have found in a great many letters. Once the young married couple move in with the in-laws,

The World and the Mud Puddles

MORE GERMAN PROPAGANDA

Although the German commentators tried to twist Pope Pius' speech on Sunday, June 13th, to twenty thousand Italian workers into a warning against the spread of Communism, there was little doubt in the minds of those who heard it as to precisely whom the Pontiff had in mind. He assailed the "stupidity of accusations" of those who charged that he favored the war and had supplied funds for its continuance.

Instead, he promised that when circumstances of the times permit he may publish documents disproving the charges. He went on to say that such charges sprang from the "irreligious spirit and contempt of the church". One has put to recall the terrible persecution of the clergy in Germany, and the efforts of the Hitler regime to substitute "Mein Kampf" for the Bible and Adolf as the German deity, to understand what the Pope was telling the Italian workmen.

It was a timely message and it may result in the saving of many Italian lives, for even as the Pope spoke Allied planes were pounding the lower fringers of Italian's defenses, moving slowly but certainly nearer the heart of the country. The Italian people have it within their power to stop all this and save their country simply by overthrowing their balcony Caesar and renouncing his pact with Hitler, who betrayed him.

PLANS

Never give your heart to plans. Life is never fixed or set. None tomorrow clearly scans. Change may suddenly be met.

Dreams you follow and pursue.

With the hope that lures you on. And the thing you'd planned to do. In a moment may be gone.

Now together here we stand.

As we started, she and I.

But there's little that we planned.

In those yesterdays gone by.

For in uniform is he!

She a soldier's bride away!

But we'd planned another way.

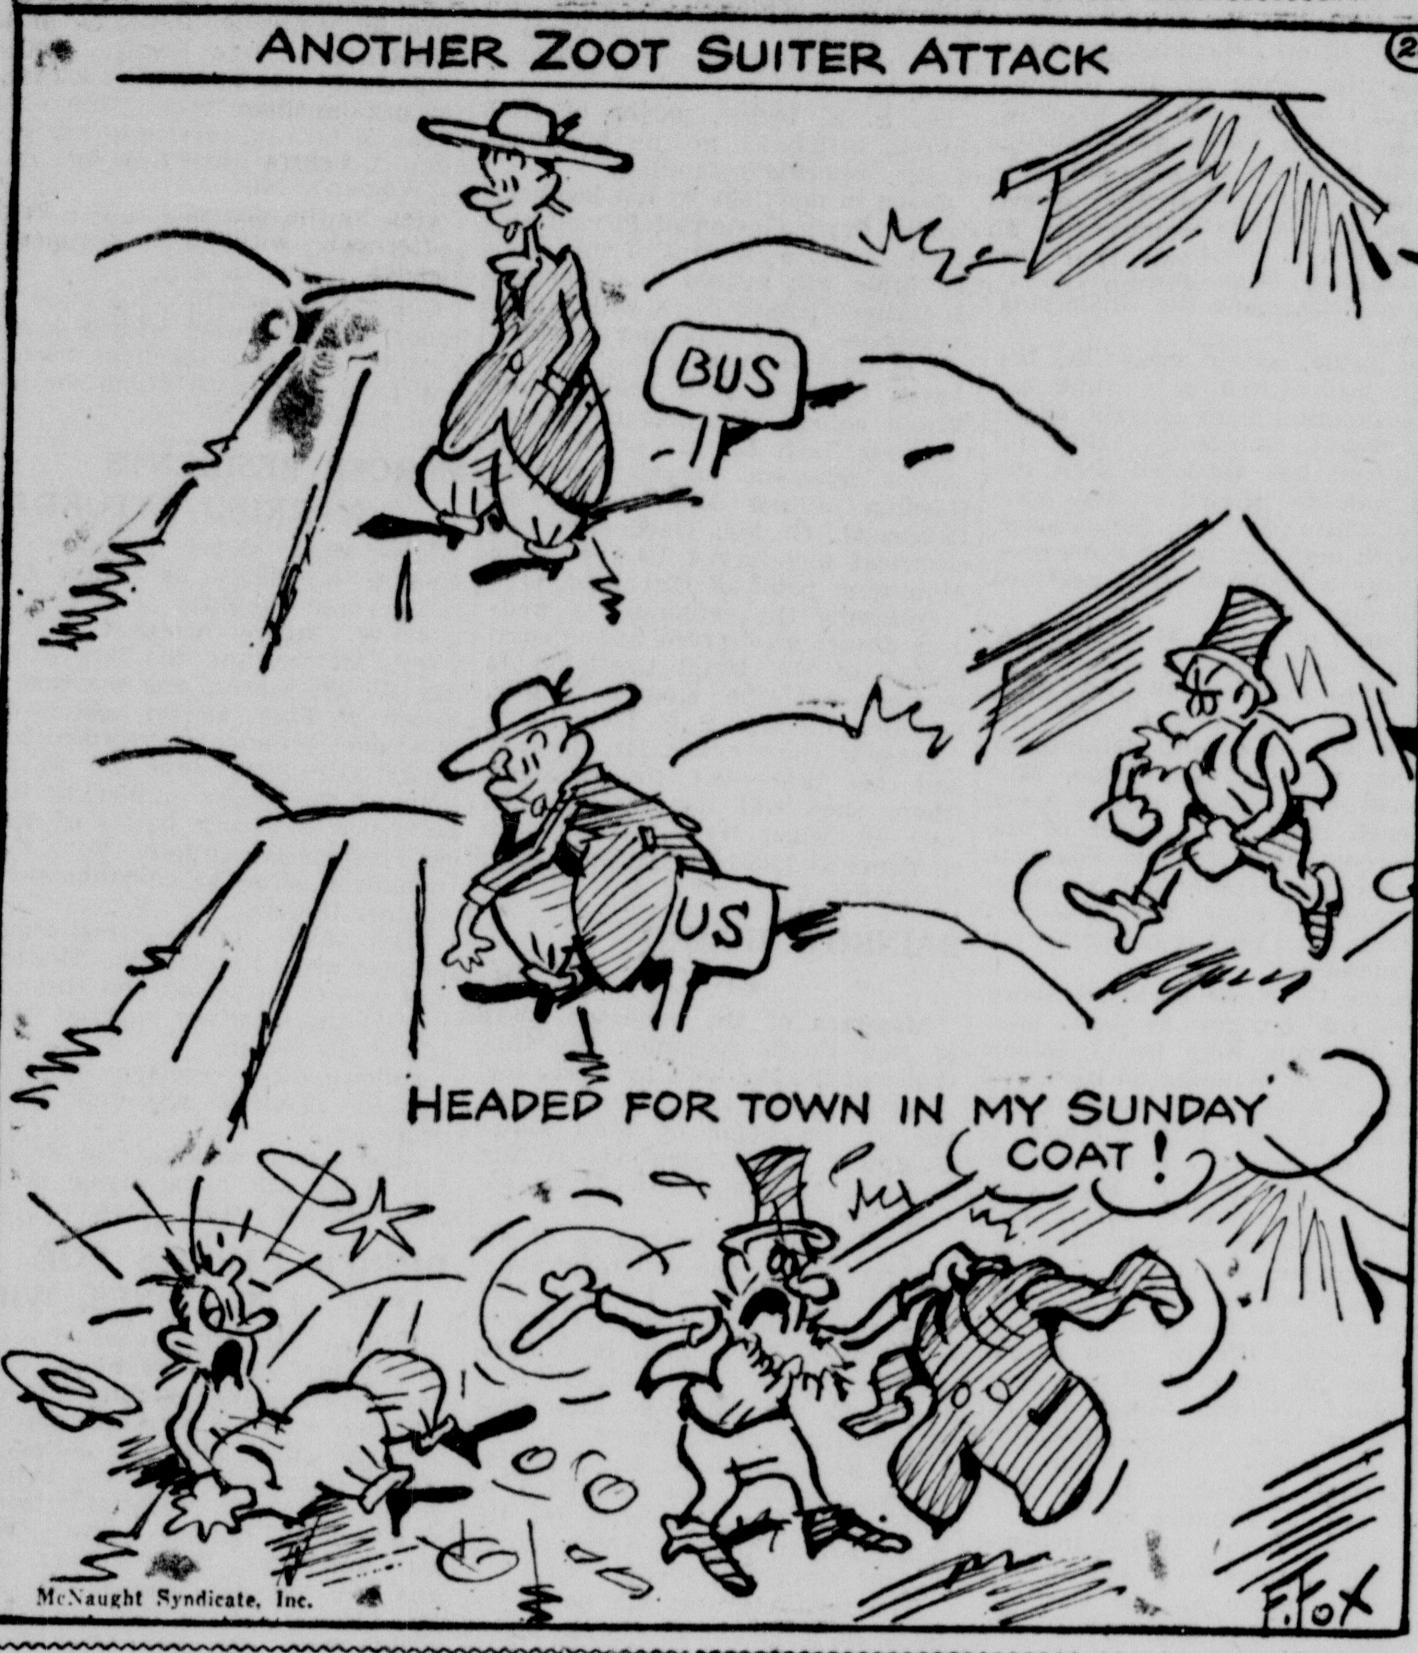

Hints On Etiquette

Don't start smoking a cigarette then lay it down and let it burn, choking the others present. Put it out if you are not going to finish smoking it.

It is smart to learn by experiment how much hardship our soldiers bear. It would be smarter to learn how much they can be spared.

HINTS AND DINTS

Please tell me what we should wear.—P. A.

Answer: If the wedding is formal, your husband and you should wear evening clothes—his should be swallow-tail coat, white tie, etc. And you of course should wear your very handsome evening dress. However, it is considered irreverent to appear scantily clad in church, so you must wear a wrap or scarf over your bare shoulders during the ceremony.

TOMORROW: Back-To-The-Parlor Movement.

A BAD DAY

"When I was a little child," the sergeant sweetly addressed the men at the end of an exhaustive hour of drill. "I had a set of wooden soldiers. There was a poor little boy in the neighborhood, and after I had been to Sunday School one day listening to a stirring talk on the beauties of charity, I was so enough to give them to him. Then I wanted them back and cried, but my mother said:

"Don't cry, Bertie. Some day you'll get your wooden soldiers back."

"And, believe me, you lopsided, mutton-headed, goofus-brained set of certified rolling pins, that day has come."

Going fishing is considered pleasure driving even if the driver only sits on the bank of the bank of the stream and don't catch any fish.

IVORY SPECIAL

Two Irishmen had lingered over-long at their suds, and late in the evening had reached the bleary stage before they decided to attend the wake of a friend of one of the pair. Unsteadily they waded down the street, finally making their way to the home of the departed. They walked into the candle-lit room. Bleary-eyed, they peered about, and spied the outlines of a grand piano in the corner. Mistaking it for the casket, they staggered over and knelt in front of the keyboard. They stared at the "corpse" for a few moments, then one of the pair nudged his partner.

"I didn't know yer frien' very well," he whispered, "but, faith an' bejabbers, didn't he have a fine set of teeth?"

With shoes under ration, stockings harder to get, it may become the fashion to go barefooted yet.

We heard of a bird who tried to buy some sauerkraut seed.

Fortunately, Americans have a sense of humor. And there never could be a greater need of it than now, when there are so many unpleasant things to laugh off.

A dog's life isn't so bad when it has a liberal owner.

That was happened to a lot of law.

BEING MODERN

"My younger sister just home from her first year at college, is now criticising her family and old friends for not being 'modern'.

This is usually applied to those who object to promiscuous petting, intemperate drinking, very scanty play suits.

As she follows your column regularly both in our home paper and that published in her college city, please write on the subject something that may straighten her out."

—Big Sister.

Answer: Letting oneself go in defiance of conventions and inhibitions is a return to the primitive rather than a step toward modernity. Hence your younger sister is reasoning backward. She is entirely ignorant of her history, her ethnology, her psychology and ethics. It is a pity so little stress on those subjects is given during the dangerous Freshman age.

These girls boasting of their modernity, thumbing their noses at Mrs. Grundy and scorning the Decalogue as "old stuff" influence other girls to adopt the wiles with which their wild savage grandmothers with thousands of greats used to win the wild men of those prehistoric times. The process of modernization was what caused women to conventionalize, abandon nakedness, protect the blood of their babies from the terrible taints yielded by dissipation and sex promiscuity. These girls who yearn to go back to the wild state have in some way put their motors in reverse and do not know it. But it is just another phase of what young boys go through when they make bows and arrows and tepees and get a thrill out of "playing Indian". Were they made to actually live Indian lives, they would all come running home to their civilized modes of living.

Happily they soon pass through this phase and react in the opposite direction—getting a kick out of starched shirts, mess jackets and contacts with sweethearts who live really modern lives under the control of modern parents who know their little books. Girls react similarly.

What do you know?" A popular greeting among Americans. Nearly everybody asks it of nearly everybody else. Maybe somebody gets married and somebody else has a new baby, or an old friend goes to jail. Beyond that nobody knows much. Why not abandon the question for the duration?

People who are buying meat now are kicking as much as ever for paying for fat and bones.

If you can't man the gun to beat Japan, then help the man who can.

OVER THOUSAND BLOOD DONORS IN FIRST WEEK HERE

During the first week of the two-weeks' stay of the mobile unit of the Red Cross Blood Donor Service in New Castle at the First Presbyterian church, 1013 donors were received at the center. Saturday's total of 179 appointments put the first week's total over the thousand mark. Number of pints of blood given during the week totaled 972, which is very close to the maximum capacity it is possible for one mobile unit to handle in six days when it is possible to schedule appointments only in the afternoons as was the case here.

Time must be allowed for shipping the blood to be processed. Only exceptions were on Saturday and today when appointments were made during the morning.

On Saturday, the record giver was Miss Helen R. Campbell, who made her fifth donation of a pint of blood.

Women who served as hostesses at the Blood Donor center on Saturday were Mrs. Wayne Bissell, Mrs. Charles Matthews, Jr., Mrs. James Foster, Mrs. C. Ed Smith, and Mrs. J. G. McConahy. Friday hostesses were Mrs. C. LeRoy Shira, Mrs. Paul Jarvis, Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, Mrs. Lee Hamilton and Miss Dorothy Edmunds.

Canteen workers on Saturday, with Mrs. W. O. Rugh as corps leader, were Mrs. Paul L. Rowland, Mrs. J. Mont Blau, Mrs. N. J. Love, Mrs. J. R. Mitchell, Mrs. F. L. Beck, Mrs. Paul Fischer, Miss Helen White, Miss Martha McGill and Miss Helen Myer.

On Friday, canteen workers were Mrs. Russell Allen, corps leader, Mrs. J. H. Earle McKenzie, Mrs. J. Will Dean, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Mrs. W. A. Stone, Mrs. Peter Cohen and Mrs. Louis Moretti.

The hard and unalterable fact is—Uncle Sam needs the cash.

In a check with members of the House Ways and Means committee, whose members have the "say so" in tax matters, it was made crystal clear that the approximately $100,000,000 tendered the treasury each year by auto owners, is needed in the war effort.

Therefore, the members observed, any more to cut down the tax, as proposed by Rep. Celler (D) N. Y., "will have hard sledding".

So in spite of the fact that cars may be abolished and even stricter regulations put into effect on the East coast, it appears certain that the old five dollar bill must be laid on the line for the nation's limousines and jalopies come July.

The hard and unalterable fact is—Uncle Sam needs the cash.

SENSATIONAL SPY CASE MAY BE DEVELOPED

tivities in January 1942, shortly after Germany declared war on the United States, the FBI said.

Used Fictitious Names

"In writing these letters," Hoover declared, "Lehmitz had used numerous fictitious names and addresses in the hope that his identity could not be established. However, in spite of these names and addresses, it was known that these letters were all written by the same individual."

Hoover did not reveal how Lehmitz attempted to smuggle the letters to the German intelligence in Europe. The allegation that he used secret writing indicated that he had been possibly schooled by the German high command.

Well Financed

It was recalled that when the Germans sent their ill-fated expeditions of saboteurs to the United States in June, 1942, all eight of them were in possession of implements for secret writing. Six of the saboteurs later were executed.

Lehmitz apparently was well financed according to Hoover. "Investigation has shown that Lehmitz has received a large sum of money through international banking channels," the FBI director stated.

Hoover did not disclose when the exchange of money took place nor who sent it to Lehmitz.

Became Air Warden

The alleged German spy made every effort to convey the impression, according to Hoover, that he was "an honest and upright American citizen and in order to carry out this impression he even became an air-raid warden on Staten Island."

Investigation has shown that he attempted to sell to the United States Government an invention for a huge sum of money. Hoover continued, in an attempt to indicate "that he desired to do all he could to assist the war effort of the United States."

Hoover would not reveal what kind of an invention that Lehmitz attempted to sell to the United States.

Born in Germany

The FBI said that Lehmitz was born in Hamburg, Germany, and now lives at 1123 Oxford place at Tompkinsville, Staten Island, New York. He came to the United States in 1908 and for a time was employed at the German consulate in New York City until that office was closed at the outbreak of the first World War. He was naturalized a citizen in Richmond county, New York, on October 4, 1924. He is known to have made at least three trips to Germany and it apparently was during those journeys that he made his contacts with the German intelligence. Lehmitz will be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner in Brooklyn during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hoyt, of Bellevue, Pittsburgh, have returned to their home after being the guests for ten days of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Kelly, of 319 Park avenue.

Desertions from the Rumanian army meanwhile were described as "most serious" by the Chronicle. The quarrel between Rumania and Hungary over possession of northern Transylvania was said to have reached the boiling point.

The Nazi-controlled Vichy radio meanwhile presented the Allies with its own version of the strength of German anti-invasion forces in Europe. Ninety-six divisions—roughly 1,450,000 men—have been massed from Norway to the Balkans, the broadcast claimed.

Mrs. Westlake has received a transfer of employment from the local office of the Bell Telephone company to the office in Lynn, Mass.

The Italian island of Sicily meanwhile was ordered in a state of siege "to face the imminent danger of invasion," the Daily Mail said. And all along the Black Sea coast, German troops were reported to be feverishly fortifying potential landing points.

Allied bombing attacks on Sicily have created such an acute water shortage that the island's 4,000,000 inhabitants will be put on a daily water ration, the Mail said.

French sources meanwhile reported from Ankara that well-informed Turkish military quarters expect an imminent Allied landing on the island of Crete.

Attack Against Japan Discussed

Military Analyst Points Out Conditions Confronting Allied Forces

(Editor's Note:—The United Nations attack against Japan is discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "Mechanized Might".)

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 28.—Australian Foreign Minister Evatt gave further warning as to Far Eastern war conditions during a radio broadcast over BBC. He stated emphatically that pressure on Japan, while Hitler is being licked, must not be lessened. In fact, he said, it must be increased.

Axial information allegedly from Tokyo, relayed via Nazi radio, informs us that the Japanese are preparing in their home cities for expected United Nations air attacks. We must remember that this is Axis propaganda which obviously is put out for ulterior purposes.

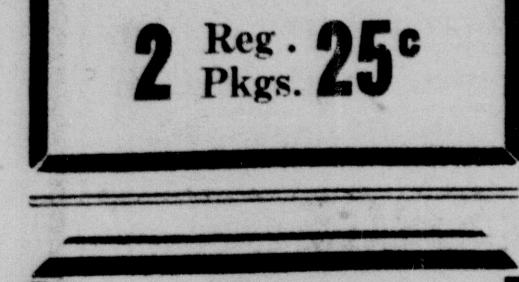

Nevertheless, it is only logical and natural that Japan should prepare her cities for aid attack. The type of construction on the home island of the empire of the rising sun has been dominated by two conditions. First, it is earthquake country, and second, the mass of buildings had to be built at the lowest possible cost: All of Japan is one great tinderbox. The major portions of her towns and cities with their low, inexpensive, frame buildings would instantly go up in flames once constant bombing is started.

We are inclined to forget that, through recent years and since Pearl Harbor, the empire of the rising sun has reached vast proportions. Today the Nipponese control nearly 3,335,000,000 square miles of territory, and a population of approximately 340,000,000 people. The Nipponese home islands are the heart and brain of this vast new empire. For us to destroy that empire we must strike at the heart and brain.

This new and tremendous empire of the Far East is being frantically welded into one great war machine. It is self-sustaining and once completed might fight on indefinitely for many years. That is why Foreign Minister Evatt says that the pressure on Japan must be increased while we are exterminating the Axis in the west.

Under the present territorial setup, the consistent bombing of Japan proper is only possible to us from Asiatic mainland air bases. But to utilize China for such a purpose we must establish and maintain a consistent flow of gas and oil, airplanes and the modern material of war to that country. It is possible that already a talked-of new overland road out of Iraq and Iran to China has been or is nearly completed.

Japan had better prepare her home islands for air attacks, for they are coming as surely as the rising sun, which one of these days will witness the extermination of the empire of that same name.

Supplementarily there are a few peevess of no importance, collectively or otherwise.

Comrade Stalin seems to know the Orient better than we do.

We don't because we haven't cultivated it. Oh, yes, Britain thinks it has done so. But we haven't—baring, perhaps, an attempt in the Philippines.

And we COULD have developed the Chinese.

And Joe Stalin wants consolidation.

And he wants to split up the other side. He wants to assure them that he is on ITS side—and to get them fighting between them.

He did a better job of it than by taking unconditional surrender.

Quite a few of them will surrender conditionally. Only, they would like to know what the conditions are.

The fact is that F. D. R. and Churchill are willing to MAKE conditions.

A lot of them would agree, according to Comrade Stalin.

Indeed, he has said so, provided they are given the chance. It will involve internal revolutions, but what does he care for that!

Then there will have to be an adjustment with Russia, but what if it!

It won't be an any worse readjustment Communism and ultimate democracy later on.

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Pennsylvania department, meeting in convention at Pittsburgh, adopted some drastic resolutions condemning un-American practices at their annual meeting which closed Saturday.

The convention, devoted entirely to business, was largely attended, around 1,700 delegates being present. New Castle's two posts contributing their share to the number.

Earl B. Cummings of this city was a member of the war service committee which presented several resolutions, one of which sharply criticized Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ikes for employing Japanese interned labor on his farm, while the Japanese enemies executed our flyers without justification. His committee also urged that the bodies of all deceased American soldiers be returned to graves in American military cemeteries, as soon as convenient after the war.

Another resolution aimed at Jehovah's Witnesses urged that it be made compulsory to salute the American flag.

The local delegation was headed by Frank T. Sargent, commander of Post 315, V. F. W., and included delegates from Post 522, headed by Past Commander Gus Miller. Several of the auxiliary women from Post 522 were also present.

Raps Complacency, Passing The Buck In Our Democracy

Urge Americans Not To Lose Democracy Through Indifference, Laziness

(Special To The News)
STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 28—Because we pass the buck, we are losing democracy in the United States.

This is the opinion of Dr. M. E. John, associate professor of rural sociology at the Pennsylvania State college, who urges the American people to wake up and build a second home front before it is too late.

"We have become too complacent," he said. "We have fallen into the attitude of letting the other fellow do it rather than tackling our problems ourselves."

Centralization in local and national government is a result of our complacency, he pointed out.

"Let us not lose democracy at home while our boys are fighting for it on the battlefield," he urges. "Let's take an active interest and participation in the affairs of our community and nation."

The post-war planning that is now being done is not being done by the people, he admonished, adding that it is time for them to begin to think about the kind of world in which they want to live after the war.

Adult education programs, civic forums, and discussion groups, with churches and schools, must help the people of America save democracy at home, he explained.

TRANSFUSION
The giving of blood from one person to another has become a very common thing nowadays.

Blood is made up of two parts. There is the solid part consisting of the corpuscles. There is the liquid part called plasma.

In giving whole blood, it is a difficult and dangerous procedure and great care must be taken.

In giving plasma, there is no risk. The person who gives the blood is called the donor.

The giving of blood does not injure the donor. Some people think they feel better after giving a pint of blood.

It is a generous thing to do.

To give a pint of blood to save a soldier's life ought to make anybody feel good.

What is sabotage? Is it the method or the result? Is the victim less dead because he was starved instead of shot?

Manpower Shortage Hits Advertising; Male Models Scarce

Agency Head Spends $5,000
Advertising For 100 Handsome Men Posers Daily

By JEANETTE SMITS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 28.—Walter Thornton never dreamed, in his wildest moments, that one day he would spend $5,000 advertising in the newspapers for male models.

But that's exactly what he has done, in the last three months.

After 12 years as head of one of New York's leading model agencies in which the cry for advertisers of cigarettes, cosmetics and practically every other article was for "girl girls and more girls," Thornton suddenly found himself swamped with demands for men.

"Immediately after Pearl Harbor," he explained today, "the calls began coming in, and they've increased ever since. Always before the war, six girls were used to every man in advertisements and illustrations. Today, the ratio is five men to one girl. Even in the cosmetics field, which is exclusively feminine, you'll notice that the girl appears as background, surrounded by men in uniform. This situation is amazing and unprecedented."

In spite of the manpower shortage, Thornton's ads, headed "Posers for ads" bore fruit. Today, he's looking over 100 males a day.

They are not, he said, professional models. They're men from every walk of life—lawyers, doctor, men, policemen, firemen, salesmen, workers in defense plants, even ministers and undertakers.

"You'd be surprised," Thornton said, "at the number of handsome 4-F's we have with broken eardrums, which keep them out of the army, but don't affect their photogenic qualities at all. Others have sinus trouble, hay fever or weak hearts."

"Some of our models are soldiers recently discharged from the army."

The boys earn a minimum of $5 an hour, and average, for part time work, about $50 a week. Top model gets $250 a week.

Pennsylvania Polka, Favorite

(Special To The News)
GREENVILLE, June 28.—"The Pennsylvania Polka" is the song most requested by soldiers at Camp Shemango, Pa., when they are serenaded by the all-Negro Number Two Band of the Post.

"I simply prove," asserted band leader Staff Sergeant George Parker, erstwhile singer with Ted Wilson and other big name Negro orchestras, "that they love this music."

Sergeant Parker revealed the results of an unofficial musical survey at the camp today when he reviewed the orchestra's activities since its inception late in March, 1943.

Musical preferences of American doughboys, he said, definitely lean toward the gay, more robust air. Pressing "The Pennsylvania Polka" in the popularity race were "The Beer Barrel Polka" and "Tiger Rag."

Not a word about the stirring music of Sousa. Sergeant Parker confessed that there is just one song he would not dare to order his men to play.

"That," he said, "is 'Auld Lang Syne.'"

Tear jerkers are strictly verboten as Army musical fare, he asserted.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

HARRISBURG, June 28—Gov. Edward Martin said Republican presidential possibilities were not discussed at the recent governor's conference in Columbus, O., but he apparently made some observations of his own. He praised Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York although he did not definitely state he favored the former "gang busting" district attorney as the party's choice. The governor refused to comment upon the possibility of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio winning the G. O. P. nomination. "He's a bright fellow," the governor said of Dewey. "He handled himself well at the conference. He's smart, too, because even though that new deal crowd went after him he still came up on his feet."

Governor Martin's praise for Dewey was rather surprising because Martin served as a delegate to the 1940 Republican presidential convention in Philadelphia and attempted to keep the Pennsylvania delegation in line for former Gov. Arthur James as long as possible. When it appeared hopeless for James, the delegation ignored Dewey and was "set up" for former Gov. Robert Taft of Ohio but was thrown into Wendell Willkie's corner by former U. S. Sen. David A. Reed because Willkie's nomination had become a foregone conclusion.

Corp. Marty Walsh, of the state police, assigned to the governors' office, has become what he calls a "plain dirt farmer" and carries on a running feud with Charles Rubager, one of the governor's secretaries over the new types of vegetables grown in their respective victory gardens. Walsh claims he has doubled the productivity of his tomato vines by planting them alongside sweet peas that stretch the vines and double the number of tomatoes. Rubager says he has planted lima beans next to corn and will have succotash when the beans grow into the corn husk and mix with the kernels.

Soldiers stationed at the Indianian Gap military reservation near Harrisburg have a 70-acre victory garden in addition to some livestock. Governor Martin has disclosed. Tended mostly by convalescent patients confined to the post hospital, the garden serves as a means of occupying the time of

Ammunition In Train Explodes

G-Men Probe Possibility Of Sabotage In Colorado Explosion

MANY BUILDINGS SUFFER DIRECT HITS

(International News Service) GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., June 28—Trainmen and other witnesses were questioned today by G-men and other investigators as they sought clues linking a possible saboteur ring with the harrowing explosion of ammunition train within the city limits of Grand Junction.

The city and surrounding areas were badly peppered as shells belched in all directions from two burning freight cars during a barrage that lasted nearly four hours. Some of the shells flew a mile before exploding.

Eight persons were injured by the shells and shrapnel. Condition of four of the victims was reported as serious. Buildings and pavements were ripped open and property damage was fixed at $50,000. Value of the ammunition, manufactured for high-powered artillery guns, was kept secret by military authorities.

Besides the G-men, military intelligence officers, city police and special agents of the Denver & Rio Grand Western railroad were conducting investigations.

Report "Hot-Box" Cause

The railroad officials were particularly interested in reports that a "hot-box" an overheated axle on the train was responsible for the fire that set off the barrage, which awoke the city from its slumbers early yesterday.

Some railroad officials insisted that the "hot-box" theory was "next to impossible." They pointed out that train axles are rigidly serviced and inspected and that "extra special attention is given to munitions trains."

Investigators said it was a "miracle" that kept the casualty list to a minimum, as virtually every building within eight blocks of the railroad yards suffered a "direct hit." Hundreds of spectators reported they escaped being hit "by inches."

The most seriously injured victim was Charles Downing, 55-year-old fire chief of Grand Junction. A shell burst 30 feet in front of him and knocked him to the ground. He stood up, his right arm shattered. He gave orders to his firemen and then walked two blocks to a hospital, where surgeons were forced to amputate his arm. After a second blood transfusion, Downing was reported in a "fair condition" today.

EASTERN OHIO MINERS RETURNING

(International News Service) BELLAIRE, O., June 28—Eastern Ohio coal miners were expected to resume the digging of war-time vital coal today.

Adolph Pacifico, vice president of District 6, United Mine Workers, reported that 19 eastern Ohio locals, with a combined membership of about 8,000 men, had voted to resume work.

Pacifico said it looked like all men would be back to work today "or tomorrow at the latest."

Acute Housing Shortage Seen After War Ends

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, June 28—Warning of an acute housing shortage in this area after the war, the Pittsburgh Housing Association today simultaneously reported on the perils of peace-time slum conditions.

"Many hundreds of families still live in slums, in too small rooms with defective sanitary facilities, in unsafe and fire hazardous structures, in unhealthy and morale-lowering neighborhoods," the report stated.

The association believes that one of the major factors which led to the recent Detroit race riots was the "deplorable housing conditions which workers of both races are subject to in that city."

Hard Coal Miners Slowly Returning

(International News Service) WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 28.—A generally confused situation prevails in the anthracite fields today with perhaps a majority of the 80,000 hard coal workers still idle but with a slow back-to-work movement apparently underway.

Sufficient miners were returning to work today, six days after the national coal strike officially ended, to insure a big pickup in production but not what had been expected. However, many locals of the United Mine Workers of America scheduled secret ballots for today to vote on resuming work.

Mine and union officials said it would be some time before a complete check could be made as many operations failed to reopen despite favorable return-to-work votes taken by their locals.

PITTSBURGH, June 28—Investigation of the confusion resulting during the recent early morning air-raid test in this area continued today as plans for a return to the old two-alarm air-raid signal for the Third Service Command were considered.

Air raid warden, auxiliary police, and other civilian defense personnel were on their jobs last Tuesday. Park H. Martin, executive secretary of the Allegheny County Council of Defense, emphasized, but part of the confusion in the drill came from an overlapping of siren signals among various communities.

Because the mechanical devices used seemed most at fault, plans for a return to the former system, discarded here Feb. 17, will be considered at the next meeting of the defense council, Martin indicated.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 28.—The major league baseball clubs today reached a two-day respite in the schedule preparatory to the western National League clubs opening an eastern swing and the eastern American Leaguers going west.

This means that the St. Louis Cardinals will try to maintain their half game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers on the road while the latter have the advantage of the home park and that the New York Yankees and Washington Senators will swing through the west with the former in front by two games as they start out.

The Cards' leadership thus is quite definitely threatened and upon their return to their own sector sometime hence they probably will be back in second place. The Yankee-Senator feud gives them an equal chance. The better road club will compile the better record and then the Yanks can be in second place themselves by the time they get back to the stadium here.

Cards-Dodgers Win

Yesterday's doubleheader competition brought no changes in the standings among the leaders, inasmuch as the Cards twice slapped the Cubs down and the Dodgers followed suit against the Phillies to maintain that particular dogfight. In the American, both the Yankees and the Senators split their twin bills.

A crowd of 39,000, biggest of the year at Chicago, saw the Cards win by 3 to 2 and 4 to 3, with Howard Kist being credited for both wins. He went in twice as relief pitcher.

The Dodgers won by 9 to 4 and 6 to 0 from the Phillies, Rube Melton turning in a three-hitter in the nightcap.

In the other National League games, the New York Giants lost to the Boston Braves, 10 to 1, then got an even split behind Johnny Wittig in the nightcap, 6 to 0, and the Cincinnati Reds downed the Pittsburgh Pirates twice, 6 to 3 and 5 to 1, Cincinnati climbing a notch in the standings.

Yanks, Bosox Divide

The Yankees won from the Red Sox in the American League by 3 to 2 behind Joe Gordon's home run and double, then dropped the nightcap, 4 to 3, in 12 innings by virtue of Bobby Doerr's home run that tied it up and his single that won the game.

The Senators split with the Philadelphia Athletics by taking the opener, 9 to 0, then losing the second game, 5 to 4.

The St. Louis Browns came up out of the American League cellar with a 6 to 3 win over the Detroit Tigers, then dropped back again by losing 9 to 5. Rudy York hit a brace of homers for the Tigers in the victory.

The Cleveland Indians split a pair of tight ones with the Chicago White Sox, the Indians taking the opener, 2 to 1 and dropping the after-piece, 2 to 0, Ed Smith furling the shut-out.

Joe Louis Favors Africa Assignment

Champ In Pittsburgh July 3 To Receive Further Instructions

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 28.—Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion, said today before leaving for Detroit he would welcome an assignment in North Africa where United Nations forces are massing for the next move against the Axis.

Louis, at present assigned to Fort Riley where, among his duties, he teaches a boxing class in the daytime and again from 7 to 9 p.m. he said, "He likes that, he also would like active service but possibly most of all he would like to see 'can I still fight.'

The sergeant has just finished five months in Hollywood on the picture "This Is The Army." He told of being on the same train with Lieut. Col. James Roosevelt coming east.

"He showed me a lot of Japanese money and told me some funny stories about the war," Joe said.

The champion will see his mother in Detroit and will report in Pittsburgh July 3 where he will receive instructions on his duties during his present trip, he said.

MARQUETTE STAR GETS HIS REVENGE

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 18.—Revenge was a long time coming to Harvey Baerwald, one-time Marquette university football star, who is now in training as an army aviation cadet here.

Baerwald, because of illness, was unable to compete against the University of Wisconsin in his varsity gridiron days but he recently tossed four touchdown passes to beat a team made up largely of former Badger players at the San Antonio base.

HITS STRIKE

Lonnie Frey, Cincinnati second sacker, is in his tenth year in the National league, and it looks like it may be his best.

Pitcher Carl Lingquist Gets Tryout Thanks To Tip By Cab Operator

Somebody owes a taxi driver in Elmira, N. Y., a scouting fee for discovering Pitcher Carl Lingquist, now of the Hartford Bees of the Eastern league.

Several years ago when Charley Miller was business manager at Elmira, his club wasn't going any too well. On his way to the park one afternoon, Miller was discussing the situation with his taxi driver.

"Yer pitchers 're lousy," volunteered the wizard of the clutch. "Why, I know a kid out here kin pitch better'n any o' them palookas you got."

"Bring him out to the park," said Miller, ready to grab at any old straw in the form of help.

Brings Him Out

Next day the taxi driver arrived at the park with Lingquist in tow. He looked pretty good, and Miller signed him to a contract. The young man did not want to report until he finished school.

Farmed out for a year, he had only so-so success, and laid out of the pro game most of 1942, dropping around at the Elmira park last September when he was given another trial.

Purchased by Hartford during the winter, Lingquist pitched a shutout on opening day for the Braves and has proven one of their most dependable hurlers.

It isn't always the paid scouts who bring in the ball players.

Legion Team For

Committee Chooses Team
Which Will Wear Uniform

Of Local Post In Eliminations

Announcement was made by Chairman Earl Moffatt of the baseball committee, Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, that players who will represent the post in district competition in the American Legion junior baseball eliminations, will pick Sunday afternoon, after tryouts at Ryantown field.

Several fine players from the league will be unable to play in the competition against district teams because they are working, but a fairly strong team will be fielded, nevertheless.

The team as chosen Sunday will consist of the following players:

Tonight is the last night for teams to turn in their players' contracts.

Chairman Moffatt announced today. All contracts must be in his hands by this evening.

Baerwald, because of illness, was unable to compete against the University of Wisconsin in his varsity gridiron days but he recently tossed four touchdown passes to beat a team made up largely of former Badger players at the San Antonio base.

Davis Is Favored To Beat Tribuani

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—(Bunny) Davis of New York, today ruled a 7-5 favorite to take tonight's 10-round bout from Wilmington's Al Tribuani, despite the fact that he came off on the losing end of a split decision in a similar match five weeks ago.

An estimated 8,000 capacity crowd will jam the outdoor arena to see the 150-pound Wilmington welterweight defend his hardfought victory, awarded him despite a round knockout.

Frankie Carte and Ellis Phillips, Philadelphia featherweights, will meet in the 10-round semi-final match.

Survey Discloses 16,000,000 Bowl

About 2,000,000 Women Enjoy Sport; Detroit Is Game's Hotbed

OVER $220,000,000 SPENT EVERY SEASON

Sixteen million Americans are bowlers, an appraisal by the A.B.C. revealed recently.

There are an estimated 13,500,000 men bowlers, 2,000,000 women and 500,000 juvenile or high school bowlers in these days of war, the A.B.C. survey shows. Interestingly enough, most bowlers are in the age groups from 40 to 50—there are 6,000,000 of them.

At the end of the 1942 season, there were 1,000,000 A.B.C. bowlers, 200,000 Women's International Bowlers Congress bowlers and 325,000 in organized duck pin and candlepin leagues. Open play tenpin bowlers among the men amounted to 11,200,000; 1,800,000 among the women, and 1,475,000 unorganized duckpin and candlepin bowlers.

Michigan State Leader

New York State possesses two 533 A.B.C. leagues and 23 750 teams or 1,800,000 organized and open bowlers in all. This total is surpassed by Michigan with 1,880,000 and tied by Illinois with 1,800,000. Nevada has the fewest keglers of any state—1,000.

Bowlers spend $221,000,000 annually for bowling, says the report. The capital structure of retail bowling establishments is a mere $70,000,000. Cost of maintenance of these alleys is estimated at $12,789,100.

With the war, the increase in industrial teams has been phenomenal. In 1939-40 there were 34,770 factor teams. In 1941-42 there were 49,476, an increase of 9,734 over the preceding year. Automotive teams jumped 9,658 in 1941-42 while aviation fives leaped up 4,124.

The hotbed of A.B.C. bowling, on ratio of population, is Detroit with 1 to 112. Syracuse is third, 1 to 140.

One In 2,500 Bowl Here

New York is way down in ninth place, 1 to 2,500.

The army has 1,247 alleys, the navy 729, the marine corps 40, and the coast guard 11.

A survey by the bureau of economic stabilization on sports finds that bowling has held up better than any other pastime, comparing the quotas of 1943 with that of 1941. The bowling score is 85 per cent.

REAL SOLDIER

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Frank Lombardo, New York City boxer who was defeated in the finals of the University of Notre Dame boxing championships, showed a real love for the sport and the championship bouts when he decided to stick around until the show was over.

A few days before the start of the championships, Lombardo was notified by his draft board he was to be called into the army within ten days, but he didn't leave for home until the final blow had been struck in the finals. Lombardo was rewarded with the individual sportsmanship trophy.

HE HAS PROOF

Playing the post golf course at Barksdale Field, La., Lieut. Art Riegel ached the golfer's dream shot into the cup on the ninth hole. "Thank goodness," he is reported to have said, "I had Lt. Howard W. Niemier, Jas. T. Lawrence and C. J. Niemier along to see the shot, or no one would believe me."

PILOT QUIT

WELLSVILLE, N. Y.—Herb Brett, manager of the Wellsville club in the Class D Pony Baseball League, resigned recently to return to his job with a tobacco company at Danville, Va.

HOMER SHORTAGE

The International League is comparatively punchless this year, the number of home runs hit being one-third the total at this time in 1942.

SPORTS PAY

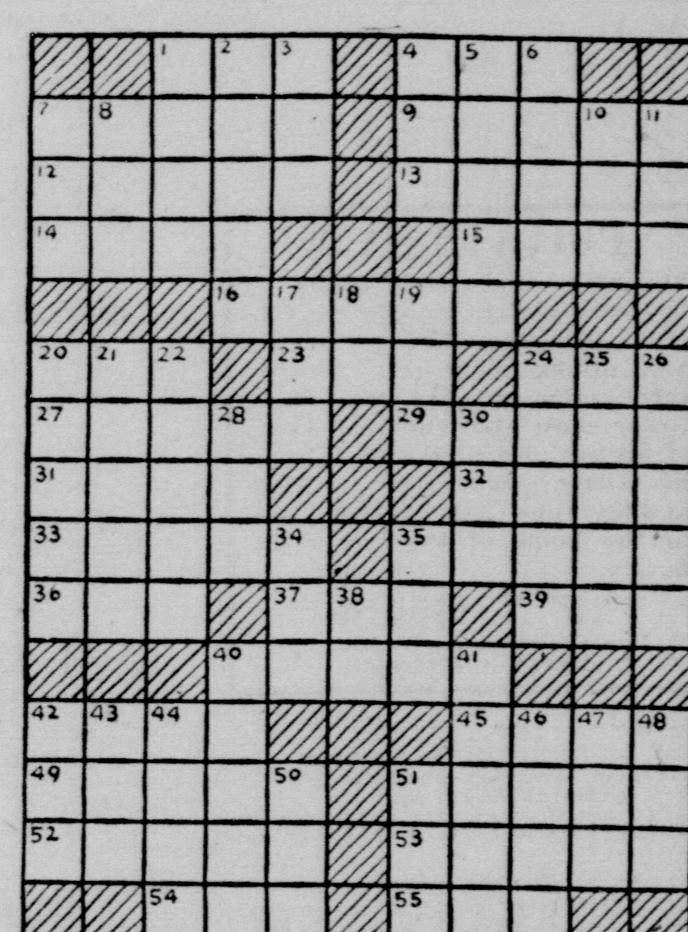

MADISON, Wis.—Total receipts of Wisconsin U's athletic department for 1942-43 amounted to $255,393.81.

MARKET UPSWING CONTINUES TODAY

Trading Is Moderately Active;
Aviations, Steel Pace
Advance

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 28.—The stock market continued its upswing today in moderately active trading. Trading was at a pace slightly above Friday's 1,146,660 shares.

Gains ran as much as a point or more, with aviations and steel, leading the advance. Rails and motors also had support, but their gains were of more modest proportions. The rest of the list was steady with fractional gains prevailing.

In the aviations, Boeing, Consolidated and United Aircraft recorded gains of more than a point, while Lockheed and United Air lines moved higher by almost as much. Both Bethlehem and U. S. Steel advanced about 3% of a point.

Hitting new 1943 high were Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, and Sears Roebuck. Gains for these, however, were slight. Included among issues on the upgrade were International Nickel, Pure Oil, American Locomotive, Atchison, Southern Pacific, Great Western Sugar, Consolidated Edison, and Electric Power & Light.

Warner Brothers, United Gas Improvement and National Dairy were slightly lower.

The bond market was quiet with price changes slight.

Winifred Dilley Becomes Bride Of Harold E. Wilson

Ceremony Solemnized Saturday Afternoon At First U. P. Church By Dr. Minteer

ELLWOOD CITY, June 28.—The First United Presbyterian church was the scene of a very lovely wedding on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Miss Winifred Dilley, of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Dilley, of Conneaut Lake, exchanged the nuptial vows with Sgt. Harold E. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilson, of Wurtemburg.

An attractive pink and white color scheme was followed in the church decorations with pink and white roses being intermingled with greenery. The popular single ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Dr. W. E. Minteer, in the presence of the immediate families and friends.

For her wedding, the bride chose a becoming blue crepe dress with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

As maid of honor, Miss Jean Barkley appeared in a pretty white dress with white accompaniments. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

Earl Badger, of Slippery Rock, served as the bridegroom as best man.

Following the congratulatory period, a reception for fifty relatives and friends took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Sidney Baney, of Orchard avenue. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a bride and groom in miniature under a wreath of pink roses and flanked with tall tapers centered the charming bridal appointments.

The hostess had as her aides Mrs. Ruth Kissick of Butler.

Later in the day, the couple departed on a wedding trip to Erie, Cleveland, and other lake points, after which Sgt. Wilson will return to his post at Ft. Bragg, N. C., where he is a field artillery instructor with the 95th brigade. He is a graduate of the local high school with the class of '38.

Mrs. Wilson graduated from the Ellwood high school with the class of '41, and has been employed in the office of the Evans Forge company.

The couple was presented with many handsome gifts for use in their future home.

Wonder why novelists explain it as a "plain deal table" when readers no longer know what the word means.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

A huge formation of War Planes is an awe-inspiring sight... stretching away in the dim distance. But you must keep 'em flying. You must provide those planes, the gas to operate them, the Bombs which mean victory... the cost of training our fearless airmen. You and your increased purchase of War Bonds every payday does the job.

It costs about $100 per hour for gas alone to keep a four-motored Bomber in the air. One Bomber in a nine-hour flight from London to Berlin and return burns $900 in gasoline. A thousand ship flight then costs about $900,000 for gas alone. The job ahead is a tough one, but we can do it. "YOU'VE DONE YOUR BIT, NOW DO YOUR BEST" and buy more War Bonds.

DON JUAN, above, pretender to the vacant Spanish throne, again is the subject of rumors similar to those which frequently have reported him about to gain his desire. The latest report
